Thank you for your help. It was apparent from the HQ call yesterday that the Communication Strategy is now the critical path for HQ concurrence.

Brad:

I got your message. I am OK with whatever was decided on yesterday. Sorry I had to leave early yesterday.

Brad,

Are you using the previous "strawman" communication strategy from before or are you starting fresh? The previous one only had some fill-in the blank type things. Let me know. In addition, I will need a map with the counties that have been identified in order to research current local and state government officials (or to get with Allison).
